RECORD OF AMICABLE RESOLUTION FOR THE PURPOSE OF EDPB GUIDELINES 06/2022 ON THE PRACTICAL IMPLEMENTATION OF AMICABLE
SETTLEMENTS VERSION 2.0, ADOPTED 12 MAY 2022

Dated the 29th day of December 2023

Data Protection Commission
21 Fitzwilliam Square South
Dublin 2, Ireland

Background

1. On 1 December 2021, [REDACTED] (“the Data Subject”) lodged a complaint pursuant to Article 77 GDPR with the Österreichische Datenschutzbehörde (“the Recipient SA”) concerning Meta Platforms Ireland Limited (“the Respondent”).
2. In circumstances where the Data Protection Commission (“the DPC”) was deemed to be the competent authority for the purpose of Article 56(1) GDPR, the Recipient SA transferred the complaint to the DPC on 14 June 2022.

The Complaint

3. The details of the complaint were as follows:
 - a. The Data Subject’s Facebook account was blocked following a password change which appeared to have been made by an unauthorised third party. The Data Subject submitted an access request by way of post in order to regain access to their account and to their personal information.
 - b. The Data Subject stated that no response was received to their access request and accordingly, the Data Subject lodged a complaint with the Recipient SA.

Action taken by the DPC

4. The DPC, pursuant to Section 109(4) of the Data Protection Act, 2018 (“the 2018 Act”), is required, as a preliminary matter, to assess the likelihood of the parties to the complaint reaching, within a reasonable time, an amicable resolution of the subject-matter of the complaint. Where the DPC considers that there is a reasonable likelihood of such an amicable resolution being concluded between the parties, it is empowered, by Section 109(2) of the 2018 Act, to take such steps as it considers appropriate to arrange or facilitate such an amicable resolution.
5. Following a preliminary examination of the material referred to it by the Recipient SA, the DPC considered that there was a reasonable likelihood of the parties concerned reaching, within a reasonable time, an amicable resolution of the subject matter of the complaint. The DPC’s experience is that complaints of this nature are particularly suitable for amicable resolution in circumstances where there is an obvious solution to the dispute, if the respondent is willing to engage in the process. In this regard, the DPC had regard to:
 - a. The relationship between the Data Subject and Respondent being, in this case, an individual consumer and a service provider; and
 - b. The nature of the complaint in this case, an unsuccessful attempt by the Data Subject to exercise their data subject rights.
6. While not relevant to the assessment that the DPC is required to carry out pursuant to Section 109(4) of the 2018 Act, the DPC also had regard to EDPB Guidelines 06/2022 on the practical implementation of amicable settlements Version 2.0, adopted on 12 May 2022 (“Document 06/2022”), and considered that:

- a. the possible conclusion of the complaint by way of amicable resolution would not hamper the ability of the supervisory authorities to maintain the high level of protection that the GDPR seeks to create; and that
- b. such a conclusion, in this case, would likely carry advantages for the Data Subject, whose rights under the GDPR would be vindicated swiftly, as well as for the controller, who would be provided the opportunity to bring its behaviour into compliance with the GDPR.

Amicable Resolution

7. The DPC engaged with both the Data Subject (via the Recipient SA) and Respondent in relation to the subject matter of the complaint. On 1 September 2022, the DPC wrote to the Respondent formally commencing its investigation and requesting that it address the concerns raised.
8. In response to the DPC’s investigation, the Respondent explained that it had referred the matter to its specialist team which confirmed that the Data Subject’s account showed signs of compromise, and that this was the reason why the account had been blocked. As such, the Respondent agreed to reverse the disablement of the account and reached out to the Data Subject directly in order to facilitate them in regaining access. The Respondent also explained that it maintains a dedicated support channel to assist its users with account security issues and provided details of this in its response.
9. As part of Meta’s standard procedures for restoring access to compromised accounts, the Data Subject was requested to provide a new secure email address and documentation in order to verify themselves as the true account holder. The Data Subject initially encountered issues with regaining access to their account following the completion of this process. However, following further engagement between the Data Subject and the Respondent, the Respondent confirmed that the Data Subject had now regained full access to their account.
10. In light of the explanations provided by the Respondent as set out above, and the fact that it had facilitated the Data Subject in regaining full access to their account, the DPC considered it appropriate to conclude the complaint by way of amicable resolution. On 26 September 2023, the DPC wrote to the Data Subject (via the Recipient SA) outlining the Respondent’s response to its investigation. In the circumstances, the DPC asked the Data Subject to notify it, within a specified timeframe, if they were not satisfied with the outcome, so that the DPC could take further action. On 28 November 2023, the Data Subject confirmed (via the Recipient SA) that the matter was now resolved, and, accordingly, the complaint has been deemed to have been amicably resolved.
11. On 28 November 2023, and in light of the foregoing, the DPC wrote to the Recipient SA noting that the DPC considered the complaint to have been amicably resolved and withdrawn in accordance with section 109(3) of the Act and that it would conclude the case and inform the Respondent.

12. In circumstances where the subject-matter of the complaint has been amicably resolved, in full, the complaint, by virtue of Section 109(3) of the 2018 Act, is deemed to have been withdrawn by the Data Subject.

Confirmation of Outcome

13. For the purpose of Document 06/2022, the DPC confirms that:

- a. The complaint, in its entirety, has been amicably resolved between the parties concerned;
- b. The agreed resolution is such that the object of the complaint no longer exists; and
- c. Having consulted with the supervisory authorities concerned on the information set out above, as required by Document 06/2022 the DPC has now closed off its file in this matter.

14. If dissatisfied with the outcome recorded herein, the parties have the right to an effective remedy by way of an application for judicial review, by the Irish High Court, of the process applied by the DPC in the context of the within complaint.
