Data Protection Commission

Dublin 2, Ireland

Background

1. On 17 April 2023, [REDACTED] (“the Data Subject”) lodged a complaint pursuant to Article 77 of the GDPR with the Commission Nationale de l’Informatique et des Libertés (“the Recipient SA”) concerning Twitter International Unlimited Company (“the Respondent”).
2. In circumstances where the Data Protection Commission (“the DPC”) was deemed to be the competent authority for the purpose of Article 56(1) of the GDPR, the Recipient SA transferred the complaint to the DPC on 11 August 2023.

The Complaint

3. The details of the complaint were as follows:
  - a. On 28 October 2022, the Data Subject contacted the Respondent via its online form, requesting the deletion of all data concerning them and their account from the Twitter platform.
  - b. The Data Subject received an automated response from the Respondent to this request on the same date. On 17 November 2022, the Data Subject therefore contacted the Respondent again, requesting the deletion of their account and associated data. The Data Subject received a similar response to this further request.
  - c. As the Data Subject was not satisfied with the response received from the Respondent, they lodged a complaint with the Recipient SA.

Action taken by the DPC

4. The DPC, pursuant to Section 109(4) of the Data Protection Act, 2018 (“the 2018 Act”), is required, as a preliminary matter, to assess the likelihood of the parties to the complaint reaching, within a reasonable time, an amicable resolution of the subject-matter of the complaint. Where the DPC considers that there is a reasonable likelihood of such an amicable resolution being concluded between the parties, it is empowered, by Section 109(2) of the 2018 Act, to take such steps as it considers appropriate to arrange or facilitate such an amicable resolution.
5. Following a preliminary examination of the material referred to it by the Recipient SA, the DPC considered that there was a reasonable likelihood of the parties concerned reaching, within a reasonable time, an amicable resolution of the subject matter of the complaint. The DPC’s experience is that complaints of this nature are particularly suitable for amicable resolution in circumstances where there is an obvious solution to the dispute, if the respondent is willing to engage in the process. In this regard, the DPC had regard to:
  - a. The relationship between the Data Subject and Respondent (being, in this case, an individual consumer and a service provider); and

- b. The nature of the complaint (in this case, an unsuccessful attempt by the Data Subject to exercise their data subject rights).
6. While not relevant to the assessment that the DPC is required to carry out pursuant to Section 109(4) of the 2018 Act, the DPC also had regard to EDPB Guidelines 06/2022 on the practical implementation of amicable settlements Version 2.0, adopted on 12 May 2022 (“Document 06/2022”), and considered that:
  - a. the possible conclusion of the complaint by way of amicable resolution would not hamper the ability of the supervisory authorities to maintain the high level of protection that the GDPR seeks to create; and that
  - b. such a conclusion, in this case, would likely carry advantages for the Data Subject, whose rights under the GDPR would be vindicated swiftly, as well as for the controller, who would be provided the opportunity to bring its behaviour into compliance with the GDPR.

Amicable Resolution

7. The DPC engaged with both the Data Subject (via the Recipient SA) and Respondent in relation to the subject matter of the complaint. The DPC first contacted the Respondent in relation to this complaint on 12 December 2023, and received a response to this matter on 22 December 2023. Further to that engagement, the Respondent informed the DPC that the Data Subject had scheduled their account for deletion on 4 November 2022, and as per its 30-day removal procedure, the account and associated data was deleted on 4 December 2022.
8. Upon receipt of this correspondence from the Respondent, the DPC wrote to the Data Subject as part of the amicable resolution process, informing them that the account in question had been permanently deleted. This letter issued to the Recipient SA on 9 January 2024, and thereafter issued to the Data Subject on 1 February 2024. In the circumstances, the DPC asked the Data Subject to notify it, within a stated timeframe, if they were not satisfied with the outcome, so that the DPC could take further action.
9. The Data Subject provided a response to the Recipient SA on 16 February 2024, confirming that their complaint had been amicably resolved, and withdrew their complaint. The DPC was informed of this on 11 March 2024.
10. On 12 March 2024, and in light of the foregoing, the DPC wrote to the Recipient SA noting that the DPC considered the complaint to have been amicably resolved and withdrawn in accordance with section 109(3) of the Act and that it would conclude the case and inform the Respondent. On 19 March 2024, the Recipient SA confirmed receipt of the DPC’s correspondence, which had advised that the complaint was deemed withdrawn.
11. In circumstances where the subject matter of the complaint has been amicably resolved, in full, the complaint, by virtue of Section 109(3) of the 2018 Act, is deemed to have been withdrawn by the Data Subject.

Confirmation of Outcome

12. For the purpose of Document 06/2022, the DPC confirms that:

- a. The complaint, in its entirety, has been amicably resolved between the parties concerned;
- b. The agreed resolution is such that the object of the complaint no longer exists; and
- c. Having consulted with the supervisory authorities concerned on the information set out above, as required by Document 06/2022 the DPC has now closed off its file in this matter.

13. If dissatisfied with the outcome recorded herein, the parties have the right to an effective remedy by way of an application for judicial review, by the Irish High Court, of the process applied by the DPC in the context of the within complaint.
