

Back-to-school photos

#PauseBeforeYouPost

Posting a back-to-school photo?
Keep your child's information safe by following these four steps:

1 Don't overshare

Keep it simple. Don't add any additional information that might identify your child and their school.

2 What's in the background?

Blur out school crests on uniforms or the house number on your front door, and turn off location data.

3 Talk to your kids

Remember, a photo of your child is their data. If they're not happy for you to post the photo online, don't do it.

4 Who do I want seeing this photo?

Set your profile to 'private'. Check that your 'friends' list only includes people you actually know and are comfortable with seeing this information.
